TRAGIC DEATH OF LUMBERMAN

Former Navy Yard Employee Crushed By Log at Kennebunk

Oliver Boston of South Berwick, who recently concluded a two years' employment in the outside shipfitters' gang at the navy yard, met a horrible death Friday afternoon. He was employed at a sawmill near Kennebunk, and in some way a huge log fell on him, instantly crushing his life out.

Mr. Boston's home was in South Berwick, but he left relatives in Eliot and many friends among the employees at the navy yard who greatly regret his untimely and tragic end.

He was 32 years of age and leaves a wife and three small children. Mrs. Boston and one child were residing with him in Kennebunk for the winter, the others being with their grandparents at South Berwick.

THIRD LARGEST IN COUNTRY

McElwain Shoe Company's Growth Has Been a Phenomenal One

Lee, Higginson, and company have just purchased for distribution to the general investment public $2,500,000 in 6 per cent. cumulative first preferred stock of the W. H. McElwain company. New England has been the home of the shoe industry for half a century, but this is the first large offering of securities by any New England shoe industry made to the public through recognized banking channels.

No mortgage can be placed on the property except with the consent of 75 per cent. of the first preferred stock. No dividends are to be paid on the $1,500,000 common unless quick assets are equal to at least the entire issue of first preferred. Beginning June 1, the company has agreed to retain in its business at least 25 per cent. of net earnings, after allowing for 6 per cent. on the first preferred, 9 per cent. on the $1,000,000 second preferred and 6 per cent. on the common, so long as net assets are less than double the first preferred issue.

The W. H. McElwain company which has property in this city and which is increasing its capital stock to $5,000,000, and which is to erect a big power house in Manchester, has already been announced has made such rapid growth that it is today the third largest shoe manufacturing concern in the United States. Its business was first established in 1895. It was incorporated under the laws of Maine in 1910, and it has this year been incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts. Its growth has been most notable. Last year it produced 7,583,624 pairs of shoes, for which it was paid $13,379,760, and its net earnings were in excess of 25 per cent.

The company operates 16 factories, with a total floor area of 18 acres. Its factories are located in Manchester, Boston, Bridgewater, Merrimack, New York, and Nashua. It has large interests in timber land in Nova Scotia, which provide an abundant supply of box boards, and it also has a large interest in four of the largest wholesale shoe houses of the country, which are located in Boston and New York.

TO CONTEST MRS. BULL'S WILL

Daughter of Famous Violinist's Widow Dissatisfied With Settlement

Ralph S. Bartlett, an attorney with offices at 53 State street, Boston, entered his appearance Friday as attorney for Olea Bull Vaughan, daughter of the late Mrs. Ole Bull, a resident of Eliot, who it is understood, is to contest the will of the widow filed a few days ago. Nothing is known here as to the grounds upon which the contest will be based. Attorney Bartlett sent his notice by mail.

Mrs. Bull died in Cambridge, Jan. 18, leaving an estate valued at upward of $500,000. Mrs. Vaughan was the chief beneficiary under the will, although there were bequests to relatives in France, India and other parts of the world.

One of the largest of the minor bequests was one for $50,000 to Miss Margaret Noble, known as Sister Nivedita, a British woman who of late years has lectured throughout the world in exposition of the Hindu order of society. Joseph Thorpe, a brother of Mrs. Bull, received many of his sister's jewels.

Mr. Bartlett could not be found last night. Mrs. Vaughan has left the city for a visit and will not return until Monday.

FIREMAN FELL FROM ENGINE CAB

Engineer of Train Didn't Know When He was Dangerously Injured

After extra freight No. 575 from Portland which left here about 8 o'clock Friday evening for Boston had passed through Lynn station at 10:55 o'clock the fireman, M. Foss, was picked up bleeding from a cut on the head. He was taken to the Lynn hospital, where the surgeons found that his skull had been fractured. His condition is considered dangerous.

As neither the engineer, Charles Walden, nor the conductor knew that Foss had fallen from the train until they reached West Lynn, two miles away, it could not be learned how the accident happened, but it is believed that he lost his footing while shovelling coal.

Both the engineer and conductor went back to the Lynn station when they noticed that he was missing and found him lying in the baggage room, where he had been taken by Walter Greenow and George Oullin, station employees, who found him.

It is supposed he fell upon the fence near the track, as nine of the pickets which were broken, and some of them stained with blood.

THE SUPREME COURT DECISION AGAINST RAILROAD

Increase in Freight Rates Were Made Without Authority of Law.

Concord, N. H., Feb. 10.—Increases in freight and passenger rates made by the Boston and Maine railroad on certain New Hampshire railroads under the lease to the Boston and Maine were made without authority of law, in the opinion of the supreme court of New Hampshire, announced today by Chief Justice Parsons.

The court rules that the Boston & Maine had no right to increase rates on these railroads leased by it under acts of the legislature of 1883 and 1889, but that roads put in operation subsequent to 1889 are not subject to the restrictions in those acts. The roads exempted include the Franklin and Tilton, the Concord and Portsmouth, the Suncook Valley and Peterboro.

MUCH MACHINERY INSTALLED

In addition to the new buildings that have been erected at the Morley Button factory during the past year there has been a great amount of work done in the building that has not been so evident to the public. For instance, the largest exhaust fan in this city has been installed recently and was tried out with great success this week. This is to take care of the fumes of the ovens, when the racks are drawn out after the first coating is baked on the buttons. This odor that arises from the buttons was so strong that it required a crew used to the work to take out the racks, and at the same time the penetrating fumes were driven through the building, interfering with the other work. Now a seven-foot fan has been installed, driven by a ten-horse power motor with a special stack. This is strong enough to draw out all of the fumes the minute the doors are opened and drive them high into the air and they are diffused with the air before they get back to earth. This does away with the strong odor that some of the residents of that section objected to. A system of ventilation for the hand finishing room is another fine piece of work. Here the work is such that every effort is made to keep the air clear of dust, and all of the win-

Human Hands and Fingers of Steel Fashion Goodyear Welt Shoes

They are fashioned for men, women and children, over perfect lasts in the same manner that the old-time shoemaker fashioned them—but more perfectly—more accurately—more economically.

Sixty marvelous machines comprise the Goodyear Welt system of shoemaking. Each machine is guided by the trained mind of a trained man. Each movement duplicates the motion of the old-time shoemaker—but more certainly—more rigidly.

The celebrated old-time shoemaker was an artist. It takes sixty machines to do what he did—but the result is more artistic.

Each shoe passes through the hands of one hundred and six operators before it is packed in a box and ready to wear—and each shoe is a high grade, hand-made shoe—made by human fingers and fingers of steel.

GOODYEAR WELT

Learn how this name becomes the shoe buyer's guide. How this method becomes your guarantee of real leather.

Five hundred stitches a minute are inserted by Goodyear welting machines. This very swiftness is your safeguard, for cheap leather or inferior leather cannot withstand this rapid, close stitching. The flying needle, lock-stitching with strong thread, betrays even the slightest flaw. Hence Goodyear Welt is your surety of flawless leather, of durable shoes.

A Yard and a Goat.

"Give me back a yard with forty square feet in it and a goat," said Dr. Thomas J. Allen of Chicago, noted as a food specialist, "and I will show any one how a family of five largely can be supported. The high cost of living problem is all bosh if the head of the family would just adapt himself to circumstances and surroundings. On a small city lot you can easily raise all the vegetables necessary, except potatoes, to support a family of five people, and with the goat the cost of living will be reduced still more. The goat is lost sight of in this country. Goat milk is by far the best that any one can drink. I state this as an authority on food values. Another thing, it is a good animal to have around. It is cheap to keep, is a fine playmate for the children, and you can depend upon it to keep the lawn well cropped without digging up the roots."—Kansas City Star.

By Their Voices She Knows Them. Miss Blanche Thompson is the only "voice detective" in the national capital. She is telephone operator in the big building occupied by the postoffice department and enjoys the reputation of being able to recognize on the wire the voices of 80 per cent of all congressmen, officials and business men who do business with men in the department.

On one occasion a newspaper correspondent named Smith, who works most of the time in Washington, called up the department by long distance telephone from New York and, without giving his name, said he wanted to speak to the postmaster general. Without hesitating a moment Miss Thompson called Mr. Hitchcock's secretary and said: "Mr. Smith, the correspondent, wants to speak to the postmaster general. He's talking from New York."—Washington Star.

Chinese Superstition. The Chinese are offering stubborn resistance to the European doctors who are endeavoring to stamp out the plague. The authorities and the doctors, we learn from a French source, are at their wit's end, for the educated Celestials share with the common people a belief that the hygienic measures and clinical treatment advocated by European surgeons are designed to kill and not cure the people. One of the legends which has a powerful influence over the people is that the Europeans want the bodies, more especially the eyes, for the preparation of different medicines. More horrible stories still are circulated, and it is said the native press is much to blame for not endeavoring to educate the people up to an understanding of European medicine and surgical treatment.—London Globe.

Lost by Two Feet. An actress recently appeared in an amusing suit brought against her by a photographer at Debreczen, Hungary. She had been photographed with bare feet and had refused to pay for the photographs, alleging that her feet were made to appear ridiculously large. In court she was asked to take off her shoes and stockings in order that a comparison might be made. This, however, she refused to do. It was then decided to compare the finished photograph with the original negative, and it was seen that the photographer in "retouching" had removed the actress' toes so as to make her feet appear really smaller than represented in the negative. He consequently won his case, the actress leaving the court in high dudgeon.

Last Year's Aerial Tragedies. The record of fatalities in aeroplanes for 1910, which was not completed until the last day of the year, appears in Popular Mechanics Magazine. Fifty-three names make up the list, beginning with Leon Delagrèze, on Jan. 4, and ending with Monsant on Nov. 31. A number of interesting facts are pointed out: The four pioneers of three years ago, Wilbur and Orville Wright, Henry Farman and Alberto Santos-Dumont, are all living; an unusually large number of the stated fatalities occurred on the 13th day of the month, and the greatest number of deaths occurred in the last six months of the year, there having been only fourteen before July 1.

The Generous Tramp. Mayor Gaynor at a dinner in New York said of a charity that had fallen into disrepute: "I understand that they paid their collectors 40 per cent of all that they collected. That is charity on a mercenary basis. It recalls the Christmas eve talk of the two tramps. 'I wish I had money enough to make every little child in New York happy tomorrow,' said the first tramp on Christmas eve. 'What would ye do?' the second tramp inquired. 'Buy stocks and bonds and live on the interest,' was the reply."

Limburger Will Assert Itself. Limburger cheese will always make itself known. Swiss cheese will always be porous. So says U. S. Baer, secretary of the Wisconsin Cheesemakers' association. "We have made experiments," continued Mr. Baer, "but they never proved a success. We thought we had a cheese that contained all the flavor of Limburger, minus the smell, but it was a decided failure. Then, again, we had a cheese that looked something like the Swiss variety, but it was solid, no holes or eyes. But the taste was far from being Swiss. It cannot be accomplished."

TORRES SHOT IN THE NECK

Mexican Federal Commander Is at Point of Death

REBELS BEAT FEDERALS

Latter Said to Have Met With Heavy Loss After Twelve Hours of Fighting at Mulata—Bayonets Used by Rebels With Bloody Effect—Madero Has Been Enlisting Men in the United States

Eagle Pass, Tex., Feb. 11.—Shot in the neck by one of his own soldiers, during a battle with insurgents, General Torres, Mexican federal commander of the department of Sonora, lies at the point of death. The news was brought here by courier who had ridden from the scene of the battle fifty miles south of the border, near Tonchil.

Revolutionists are in control of Mulata following a twelve-hour battle in which the federals were repulsed with heavy loss. General Luque, who led the federals, is said to have been wounded. During the engagement shells crossed the river, falling among American soldiers of Troop H, Third United States cavalry, who were patrolling the Rio Grande frontier on the American side.

It is charged that the federal soldiers, chagrined at their failure to drive back the rebel forces, deliberately turned their guns upon huddled groups of women and children who had fled from the town, taking refuge on the American side of the Rio Grande, where they watched the battle.

The insurgents were entrenched upon a hill, supported by several batteries of long-range artillery. The federals succeeded twice in gaining the ditch outside the rebel earthworks, but were driven back in two desperate charges.

The rebels used the bayonet with bloody effect. Colonels Ortega and Salgado commanded the rebels. They refused to tell how many were killed, although eleven bodies of federals have been picked up, stripped of clothing and arms.

Customs Inspector Perrine and Lee Rigby, both Americans, were fired upon by the Mexicans.

The mysterious disappearance of Francisco Madero, the fomenter of the Mexican revolution and claimant of the Mexican presidency, has been solved by the activity of United States secret service operatives. It is learned through underground channels that Madero has been trailed through Kansas City, Denver and St. Louis, thence to Texas, and he is now in El Paso, living incognito and awaiting a chance to cross the Rio Grande to take the head of the concentrated rebel army, which is centering its forces in northern Chihuahua for that purpose. Madero has been enlisting men through the west.

Empire State Parole Board Expresses Doubt as to Its Efficacy

Albany, Feb. 11.—Unconvinced that Edward E. Grimmer, a third term convict in Clinton prison, has been cured of his criminal tendencies by surgery, the state parole board has refused to parole him.

Grimmer's skull was fractured when a blow of 14 during a quarrel with a playmate, and the contention was that the injury was a potent factor in developing his criminal career. In March, 1909, Dr. Dewitt G. Wilcox of Buffalo, with an assistant, went to the prison and performed an operation with a view to restoring Grimmer to his normal state of mind.

Topham, the prince of English strong men, had knots of muscles where the arm pits are in the ordinary man. He could take a bar of iron one and one-half inches in diameter and five feet long, place the middle of it over the back of his neck and then force the ends forward until they met before his face. On one occasion he carried upon a village blacksmith and made of him an overhanging enemy by picking up a number of horseshoes and snapping them in two as easily as if they had been pine sticks.

Pantchenko's counsel asked the judge to order a physical and mental examination of his client. His honor replied that the alleged poisoner might be examined as to his physical condition, but that his mental state would not be made the subject of an official inquiry.

TALKATIVE WITNESS GAGGED WITH TOWEL

Disobeyed Court's Injunction to Hold His Tongue

Kansas City, Feb. 11.—Joseph Murphy refused to refrain from talking in Municipal Judge Thompson's court in Kansas City, Kan., so the court had Murphy gagged with a towel.

Mrs. Olive Boyd caused Murphy's arrest on a charge of attacking her. She was testifying when the prisoner said:

"She isn't telling the truth, judge."

"Silence," ordered the court.

But Murphy would not keep quiet. Finally the judge had a towel wrapped around Murphy's head and across his mouth. When the case was dismissed the towel was removed.

"I told you—" started Murphy.

"Good night," said the judge, "court's adjourned."

GETTING EXACT TIME.

A Very Simple Matter, According to This Man's Idea.

There is nothing like having one dimepiece to correct the mistakes of another. Those people who keep a clock in every room of the house will no doubt be glad to learn of the expedient adopted by an old colored janitor in an office building in Chicago. One day a man whose office was under this janitor's charge asked him if he had the exact time. "Just a moment, sir," he said and pulled out a battered silver watch from a vest pocket, looked at it, put it back and then took a pencil out of another pocket and jotted down something on the back of an envelope.

Next he produced a second silver watch from his trousers pocket, looked at it and began to figure out something on the paper. By and by he said:

"When you asked, sir, it were just twenty-seven minutes past 3—that's exact."

"Much obliged," said the other, who had been fingering his watch nervously. "But will you please tell me what you were doing all that arithmetic for?"

"Why, you see," said the old man, "this watch that I carry in my vest is a mighty good watch, only it gains ten minutes every day. And this one is a mighty good one, too, but it loses ten minutes every day. So I just look at them both and then strike an average. You'd be surprised, sir, to see what a simple matter it is."—Exchange.

GRAFT.

No city can be injured by the enforcement of the people's laws. To do otherwise is to substitute the will of the official for the laws of the people, and that is tyranny. No state can be hurt by exposing grafting. To do otherwise is to connive at it. There is no secret remedy known for evils of this character. They cannot be cured by hiding them. The disgrace is not in their correction, but in submission to them with supine indifference. It is well for a state to display its virtues and not to parade its faults, but it should not be forgotten that the highest civic virtue is the overthrow of depravity.—Joseph W. Folk.

DIRECT VOTE FACES DEFEAT

Sutherland Amendment May Prevent Legislation

OPPOSED BY SOUTHERNERS

Would Give Negro Equal Opportunity With Whites to Vote For Candidates For Senator—Root Opposes Direct Election of Senators and Speaks Against Transferring Control From Congress to States

Washington, Feb. 11.—Votes enough have been promised in the senate to insure the adoption of the Sutherland amendment to the Borch resolution for an amendment to the constitution to provide for election of United States senators by the people.

This fact means that in all likelihood the resolution will be permitted to reach a vote, and that, with the amendment adopted, the proposition will become obnoxious to Democratic senators from the southern states, who will refuse to support the amendment and thus defeat the legislation.

Incidentally this expected outcome is interesting as disposing of one of the most important measures before the senate, and thus removing another instrument for filibustering and delay.

As reported by Senator Borah from the committee on the judiciary the resolution struck out section 4 of article 1 of the constitution, which places upon congress the duty of making and the right to alter regulations as to the time, place and manner of electing senators and representatives, except to the places of choosing senators.

The result of omitting this section would be to permit the states to make such regulations as they pleased relative to the election of senators, and in the south there would include in many cases disfranchisement of the negro. Without the right to restrict suffrage to the whites the south would have no use for the constitutional amendment, as it would give the negro an equal opportunity with the white to vote for candidates for senator.

The defeat of the amendment will not be deeply regretted by all the southern senators, although they would vote for the resolution in the form in which it was reported. Only a majority vote is necessary to amend the resolution, although it would take two-thirds to pass it.

Opposing all suggestions looking to a change in the manner of electing United States senators, Mr. Root of New York yesterday addressed the senate on the resolution providing for election by direct vote of the people.

At the outset he took positive position against both the propositions contained in the resolution. He would not have senators elected by direct vote, nor, if they were to be so elected, would he have the control of such elections transferred from congress to the various state legislatures. For congress to abandon jurisdiction over senatorial elections would be equivalent, he said, to the government's surrendering its power to maintain itself.

Mr. Root found in the main proposition, that of changing the method of electing senators, an effort to evade responsibility in the matter of government. Declaring that the principal reason given for the change to be the corruption of state legislatures in the interest of senatorial candidates, he said that a more fundamental change should be made than is proposed. He would go to the root of the trouble by so purifying politics as to obtain better material in the legislatures. If the people would look properly to the selection of legislative candidates he was sure there would be comparatively little complaint concerning the election of senators by legislative action as he was sure that in that event the agitation for direct election would gradually disappear.

Admitting the expression of a popular wish for popular senatorial elections, Root contended that the feeling is a mere assent—not a violent desire. Naturally, he thought, the electorate would accept any extension of the franchise. The evil, however, which the people wished to see cured was the defects in the plan of electing senators by the state legislatures. They were tired of deadlocks, and impatient over such delays as that now being manifested by the Montana legislature to return Senator Carter. These troubles were due to the statute and not to the constitution, he said.

"NOBODY MUST BE TOLD"

Witness Tells of Secrecy Plea in Twigg-Elosser Poison Case

Cumberland, Md., Feb. 11.—One of the greatest sensations that has yet developed in the wedding eve poison tragedy that resulted in the death of Charles E. Twigg and Grace Elosser came when, in the presence of Commissioner of Police Koon, Mrs. Jane Crummett, who lived in the room directly over that in which the two bodies were found, declared that immediately after the tragedy she had heard Mrs. Elosser, the mother of the dead girl, exclaim:

"My God, this is terrible! Nobody must be told!"

Mrs. Crummett flatly contradicted the statements made by the Elossers since the tragedy and at the inquest that there was the utmost confusion and loud screaming from the moment of the discovery of the bodies.

The most astounding fact of Mrs. Crummett's story lies in the fact that she was never interviewed by any official of the city or county until within the past twenty-four hours, when attention was called to her by reporters.

PANIC IN SILK MILL

Three Hundred Young Women Witness Fatal Stabbing Affray

New York, Feb. 11.—Before the eyes of 300 young women employees of the Astoria silk mill in Long Island City, Frederick Partus, a room superintendent, seized a long knife used for cutting silk from the loom, which lay handy, and plunged it into the breast of Henry Zahm, another superintendent, with whom he had been quarrelling.

Zahm fell fatally wounded while the horrified young women rushed screaming from the room and from the building, followed by practically all the other 700 or more employees in the factory, most of them girls, to whom the panic had spread.

Pleaded Guilty of Smuggling Property Valued at $8000

New York, Feb. 11.—Mrs. Roberta G. Hill, a wealthy woman, divorced wife of Captain James Hill, one time of the English army, was sent to jail for three days and fined $2000 by Judge Martin in the criminal branch of the United States circuit court.

She had pleaded guilty to a charge of smuggling into New York a sable coat and jewelry, the aggregate value of which is about $8000. It was the first jail sentence imposed since the campaign against smuggling was begun six months ago.

Mrs. Hill broke down when sentence was passed. She remained in the marshal's office until 6 o'clock last night, when she was taken to the Tombs prison and locked in a cell.

RECIPROCITY GOOD FOR ALL

President Speaks In Defense of the Agreement

AN APPEAL TO FARMERS

Pact With Canada Will Be a Benefit Rather Than Detriment to Them and Will Unite Two Countries With Kindred People in Social and Commercial Union to Great Advantage of Both—His Reply to Critics

Columbus, O., Feb. 11.—Carrying forward his campaign for Canadian reciprocity, President Taft made a direct appeal here to the American farmer on that issue. He said that the impression which had gone abroad that reciprocity with the Dominion would injure the farmer was entirely without foundation and by statistics and argument he sought to back up his assertions.

Mr. Taft said without reservation that the agreement would be a benefit rather than a detriment to the agricultural interests of this country. He said he made this answer to the criticism directed against the measure presumably on the part of the farmers.

As for himself, the president said, he felt that the undoubted general benefit of the agreement would entirely vindicate those who are responsible for it. The greatest reason for the adoption of the agreement, he argued, is that it will unite two countries with kindred people, living together across a wide continent, in a commercial and social union to the great advantage of both.

"Such a result," added the president, "does not need to be justified by a nice balancing of a pecuniary profit to each."

Mr. Taft's address, the first of his present trip into the middle west, was delivered to 4000 hearers at the National Corn exposition in the auditorium at the state fair grounds.

The speech was not framed merely as a popular appeal to a class, but consisted in large part of figures in substantiation of general tariff claims.

For instance, so far as the corn raisers are concerned, Mr. Taft showed that the total Canadian yield is but .6 of 1 percent of the total production in the United States. "Certainly with respect to corn," he added, "the American farmer is king and will remain so, reciprocally or no reciprocity."

This statement elicited a quick response from the big audience, and the demonstration was renewed when the president said in closing:

"Let the agreement be adopted and go into operation, and in six months the farmers of the border who now have fears will rejoice in this great step toward closer business and social relations with our neighbors. The whole country—farmer, manufacturer, railroad company, middleman, warehouse man—all will be the gainer."

NOW UP TO HOUSE

Maine Senate Goes on Record as Opposed to Sturgis Law

Augusta, Me., Feb. 11.—The senate voted to repeal the Sturgis liquor law enforcement commission act, passed four years ago, and to abolish the state liquor agency system, without a dissenting vote.

Several of the senators, without regard to party affiliations, expressed the desire that both of these laws be wiped from the statute books, the Sturgis law because of the recent removal from office of the commissioners by the governor, and the liquor agency system because efforts to remedy defects therein had failed. The house will act on these measures later.

UNDER HEAVY GAIL

Lawrence Men Are Arraigned on Charges of Graft

Lawrence, Mass., Feb. 11.—A crowd that packed the municipal courtroom heard Assistant District Attorney Burke announce the men recently arrested in the startling graft cases that have roused the indignation of the people of the city.

Those arraigned were Patrick Lyons, superintendent of streets; Clark Michael J. Flynn, contractor Philip Holland and John P. Kane of Lawrence, and contractor Fred L. Snow of Lowell. The men had all been bailed in $2000 each. Through their attorneys they waived examination.

In spite of the protests of their lawyers the bail of Holland, Lyons and Flynn was raised to $5000. The bail of Kane and Snow was allowed to remain at $3000. Eleven witnesses were placed under $600 bail each.

The graft cases will come before the next grand jury, which may be a special one, or the regular one that meets in May.

PLANNED BIG HOLDUP

Saloon Keeper Said to Have Then Tried to Rob Original Bandit

Chicago, Feb. 11.—William Loftus, saloon keeper, the man accused by a confessed participant in the robbery last Sunday morning of Recktor's restaurant as having employed three other thieves to rob the original robber, was held to the grand jury in bonds of $20,000 by Judge Newcomer, who severely rebuked the defendant.

"You are worse than any of the other men in this affair," said the court to Loftus. "You not only planned the original robbery, but also the holdup of that robber. Your defense that you merely loaned two revolvers for half an hour for $100 is enough to indict you."

TO MAKE LAST FIGHT FOR A MINING CLAIM

If 107-Year-Old Indian Loses He Will Begin Life Over

Kansas City, Feb. 11.—With his fortune gone, but with his health and his courage undaunted, Foster J. Foster, 107 years old, will begin life anew. Foster, the grandson of Red Jacket, chief of the Seneca Indians in New York revolutionary period, is here to take steps to make his last fight for a mining claim out of which he says he was swindled. If he does not recover the claim, located in Montana, he asserts he will go into business and start all over again.

Foster says he was born in 1804 on what is now Seneca street, in Buffalo, which at the time was an Indian village. For years Foster was a government scout and secret service agent.

BURIAL WITHOUT EULOGY

Other Commands of Chicopee Falls Priest Are Carried Out

Father Delphos, during the last days of his illness, impressed on his assistant his commands about his obsequies. He expressly forbade the use of more than four candles about his bier. He himself selected from the vestry the simplest and cheapest garments in which to be laid out.

His funeral took place from the church in which he was curate for eighteen years—Notre Dame. There were two regular masses.

Portland, Me., Feb. 11.—Fire interrupted the wedding of William Grasser and Nellie M. Barnes, which was taking place in the office of a justice of the peace on the third floor of the Court square building, and caused the young lady to be carried down a ladder by the firemen.

The groom made his escape by the stairways, and a few moments later, after the flames had been subdued, the couple returned and the ceremony was completed.

The damage to the building was principally by smoke.

COALS OF FIRE

Such coals of fire as Representative Humphrey, with regard to our shriveled ocean-going merchant marine, heaps on the head of a recalcitrant Congress might ordinarily be calculated to awake some belated sense of moral obliquity. Congress, however, has been the target of equally heated criticisms long ere now, and all have apparently made an equally deep impression as water on a duck's back.

Said Representative Humphrey: "Upon the land our country is the envy of the nations. Upon the sea we are the shame of the world. Engaged in the inter-oceanic trade today, England has more than 7,000 vessels, Germany more than 2,600 Japan, scarcely 50 years recognized as a nation, more than 1,000. The United States, with its 90,000,000 of people, and all its island possessions and its mighty commerce and mighty interest, has ten—six upon the Pacific and four upon the Atlantic ocean."

The indifference with which Congress has long regarded the welfare of the American merchant marine, is one of the gravest shortcomings of this much, though frequently unjustly criticized body.

It is to be hoped that the laudable work of the National Merchant Marine congress, of which Winthrop Lippitt Marvin, a native of this city, is a moving spirit, as well as the powerful influence of its now many staunch supporters, will ultimately succeed in opening the eyes of congress to an extent at which our merchant marine will cease to be a reproach to a nation which shines in every other field of commercial endeavor.

BIRDEYE VIEWS

Wouldn't there be some class to a sack race between wearers of the hobble skirt and the pantaloen gown?

William Thaw 3d, reported missing on his honeymoon in the West Indies, has apparently just melted out of sight.

The maligned groundhog now knows how to sympathize with Joe Cannon and other victims of righteous public indignation.

That lecture at the Boston Art club on the author of David Copperfield, etc., must have been as interesting as the Dickens.

Second only to Doc Cook in his pestiferous reappearances in print, is Ferdinand Pinney Earle, artist and affinity collector.

Unfortunately for vulgar pert paragrappers, the news of missing Margaret Damms whereabouts came from Berlin by wire and not from Amsterdam via Rotterdam on the steamer Statendam.

Should Boston establish municipal drug stores, the demand for positions behind the beverage counter would become a drug on the market.

The rumor that Fakir Cook is going into vaudeville is incredible. Doc can't have a hankering for any further show-up of his methods.

Martin Luther once remarked "I say more in a day than the Emperor Charles in a year." To make the effect really striking, he should have made this comparison with the late Colonel Roosevelt.

Napoleon Bonaparte is in exile on Blackwell's island, New York, and Julius Caesar is working in a Pangor factory. Now if we could only get Lord Wellington and Marcus Brutus and have a little family party!

Rudyard Kipling is said to be opposed to reciprocity between Canada and the United States. Does this call for a new Kipling poem? asks the Manchester Union. We'll stand for anything but an Austin poem.

The Chinese in this country have always been noted for minding their P's and Q's and now they are cutting off their queues, says the Portland Press. But so long as China continues to mind her own affairs, we'll let her be.

Though Brockton women have been warned that their telephone rates will be increased unless they give up their "dearie talk" over the wire, it is not to be inferred that they will be decreased if they resort to swearing at each other.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

A Queer Plan

The president and postmaster-general Hitchcock appear insistent that the curious plan of making the magazines pay four cents a pound for their advertising matter transmitted through the mails be made a part of the postoffice appropriation bill. On "reading" they are willing the present rate of one cent a pound shall remain.

This is certainly the queerest hocuspocus seriously devised by any department for a long time. How is the arrangement to be made? Are the "ads" front and back, to be torn out and weighed separately or is somebody's bit-or-miss estimate to determine what the magazines shall pay? And if advertisements are to be specially taxed, how can the newspapers consistently escape? Must we have a commission to determine the weight of "ads" when mixed with reading matter, as is the case with the dailies and a good many weekly magazines?

There is no need of this discrimination against the magazines, many of which are performing highly useful services of education in all parts of the country. The deficit they create could easily be wiped out by abolishing the absurd franking system.

COMFORTING WORDS

Many a Portsmouth Household Will Find Them So

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Portsmouth readers.

Charles E. Oliver, 45 Coffins Alley, Portsmouth, N. H., says: "Standing for hours brought a constant strain on my kidneys and I finally began to have kidney complaint. My back was so lame at times that I could attend to my work and I was also troubled by headaches and spells of dizziness. When I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box and began their use, following the directions closely. The pains in my back and other symptoms of kidney complaint soon left me and I felt much better in every way. The cure has since proven to be a permanent one and I, therefore, advise anyone suffering from disordered kidneys to try Doan's Kidney Pills."

A TIMELY TOPIC

—BY—
CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR,
Or Recent Date.

The People and Congress

THE speech that Senator Lodge made in the Senate on Monday has a great many things in it that all men should ponder; the fact that he spoke on the question of the popular election of senators and that his views are opposed to those of many that count themselves progressive, by no means argues that he may be called a reactionary. The fact that he puts the weight of his argument upon a constitutional point and that he raises a very grave constitutional question, should at once put the whole matter outside of party politics. If when our readers consider his speech and weigh his arguments they revolutely approach this question in the first place as Americans and only secondarily, if at all, as Democrats or Republicans or progressives, they will reach whatever conclusion they come to in the only way that such a conclusion can be reached with safety to the happiness and well-being of the American nation.

Persisting in an impartiality too lofty not to learn and too selfish not to teach, citizens can read Mr. Lodge's speech, and, to whatever conclusion they may come, they can profit by what he says. There is a line in it which is that of the publicist and statesman, and that must be read and remembered by citizens that would uphold the credit of the greatest republic in the world; this line is that wherein Mr. Lodge says that "free popular government is not simple, but extremely complicated." To these words we make bold to add that it is not the easiest but the most difficult in the world.

Free popular government is the most difficult because it imposes upon the individual the greatest amount of responsibility; in a free popular government the individual has none on whom to father his shortcomings. In a monarchy there are the king, the nobles and the privileged classes, all the whipping boys of the people's mistakes; in an oligarchy there are the oligarchs; in the socialistic state there are those not approved of the central committee whose duty it is to relieve providence of its burdens. But in a free popular government every man must share the responsibility with every one else, because he has declared himself to be free, to be the equal of everybody else, and to be quite fitted to perform all the functions of government, of citizenship and the preservation of justice. He has, in effect, made for himself a standard which he alone can uphold and that can be borne by no one else. He cannot hide behind a popular majority to shield himself from criticism, he is, to the extent of his own acts, that majority, and for the good or evil acts of that majority he is so far responsible. Real popular government means not only the government by the people of themselves collectively but by each individual of himself; in becoming an advocate and champion of popular government one assumes that duty, a duty which can be performed only by the most rigid adherence to right and the boldest disregard of personal interest.

The constitution of the United States was framed by men that had this fact in mind, the whole instrument as it was adopted shows this and the same is shown by the literature surrounding its inception. Mr. Lodge has struck the keynote of the question when he gives it a constitutional tone and a high constitutional tone at that. We are under no sort of duty to agree with Mr. Lodge in many of his political opinions because they may be those of a party man, but in the present case he has removed the question out of the range of party politics and made it what it should be, one to be decided in accordance only with the soberest calculations of the nation's welfare. He has gone farther, and has plainly pointed out the great task and the noble burden imposed upon those that would govern themselves. If any one believes that great constitutional matters can be quickly decided or hastily treated, or if he thinks that he is ever safe in consulting his own personal convictions alone, however honest they may be, let him examine the constitutional history of England under Oliver. When the parliamentary party came into power there came upon the scene of England's councils an extraordinary number of men of ability, shrewdness, learning and patriotism. They were in no wise sympathetic to any system of royalty, and for the age they were resolutely against the entrenchment of privilege. Had their views been tinged by the Stewart plan of statecraft, they would not have played the part they did in history. Many reforms were planned and carried through, some of them of great enlightenment, and there was a sincere detestation of the monarchical tyranny that had been so lately attempted. Oliver himself, though a man conservative by nature, was the friend of all that made for firmness and excellence in government. Yet with all these helps, with all these talents, with all these virtues, parliamentary England turned in discomfort from one scheme to another, only to surrender itself after Richard Crosswell's brief twilight to the impossible inefficiency of Charles II. and James II. and the politicians with whom they chose to surround themselves.

Charles and James were tolerated because the political conscience of the English people had not learned its lesson. That lesson must be learned by all, whether they have a president, a king or a protector, and that it has been learned is shown only in the individual acts of each citizen.

ADDRESS OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN

At the Dedication of Gettysburg Cemetery, the 19th of November, 1863

FOURSCORE and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of the war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that their nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But in a larger sense, we can not dedicate, we can not consecrate, we can not hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth.

AFTER ALL

There is nothing in life but the joy of the minute,
There is nothing in love that we do not put in it,
There is nothing can happen unless we begin it,
There is nothing worth winning but what we can win it!

There is nothing so sad as to set us a sighing,
There is nothing we'd do that is not worth the trying,
There is never a danger too great for defying,
The beauty of earth it is folly denying.

There is never a sorrow should cause us repining;
For sorrows were made for the spirit's refining;
So, turn all your clouds inside out 'til their lining
Of silver shall rival the sun in its shining.

If you think that too long you have waited and striven,
Then remember you've gotten as much as you've given,
In the loaf of your burden just look for the leaven;
For God's in the world—and the world is His Heaven.

There is no mistaking the sentiment of the local public as to their opposition to the bill now before the legislature regarding the city charter. The local delegation to the legislature knows this and it should make short work in killing the bill. The citizens demand a fair trial of the charter and will not favor a step backward. If there have been mistakes made in management it is not the fault of the law, it is the fault of the officials. Why not stop playing politics and continue good government in this city?

Visitors to the county farm yesterday on the occasion of the annual legislative inspection were warm in their praise of the commissioners and the superintendent for the general excellence of the upkeep of the institution and the many improvements made. ## RAILROAD NOTES

John C. Hutchins, who for many years ran a locomotive over the old Concord and Portsmouth railroad, has just completed fifty-four years of service in railroad life.

He began as a section hand and later obtained a position as fireman, which he held for two years. He was set up as an engineer in 1861, completing his half century today. This record is still further notable in the fact that, in all these years of faithful service, Mr. Hutchins has never had an accident of a serious nature, and has not laid off any length of time on account of sickness.

The special train carrying railroad men to this city to attend the funeral of the late George Law will leave Concord at noon on Sunday.

A carload of oranges direct from the Pacific coast was unloaded in the freight yard this morning for a local firm.

Charles A. Blackmar, aged 40, of Dover, a brakeman on the Lake Shore branch of the Boston and Maine railroad was the victim of a serious accident just after 1 o'clock on Friday afternoon while at his work in the Lakeport yard. Mr. Blackmar's train was being pulled from the Lakeport station back into the yard and members of the train crew saw him jump up onto a car and the next minute he was seen being dragged along by the side of the car. He was picked up and taken to the Laconia hospital, where he was found that the bones of the right arm were badly crushed and he was severely injured about the head.

Look for the Yellow Box

When Buying Your Sox

Holeyproof Hosiery comes only in yellow boxes. Imitations of the guarantee are numerous, but insist on getting the genuine "Holeyproof"—look for the yellow box.

There is real worth in "Holeyproof." The makers pay 63 cents a pound for the finest Egyptian and Sea Island Cotton, but they could get ordinary cotton at 12 cents a pound.

The body is 3-ply and the heels, toes and knees are 6-ply in "Holeyproof." Common hosiery is only 2-ply throughout. Both sell for the same price, but the common hose wear only one-sixth as long as "Holeyproof."

This hosiery is as soft and smooth as silk, yet we guarantee to replace any pair that needs darning within six months. Men's hose come in eleven colors and women's in six—the price is $1.50 to $3 a box of six pairs. Children's hose, in black and tan only, at $2 a box. ## CERTAINLY ENDS STOMACH TROUBLE

Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn, or Dyspepsia Go In Five Minutes

You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of indigestion or dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach, if you will take a little Diapiesin occasionally.

Your meals will taste good, and anything you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas, which causes Belching, Dizziness, a feeling of fullness after eating, Nausea, Indigestion (like a lump of lead in stomach), Bloating, Heartburn, Water brash, Pain in stomach and intestines or other symptoms.

Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unknown where this effective remedy is used. Diapiesin really does all the work of a healthy stomach. It digests your meals when your stomach can't. A single dose will digest all the food you eat and leave nothing to ferment or sour and upset the stomach. Get a large 50 cent case of Pape's Diapiesin from your druggist and start taking now, and in a little while you will actually brag about your healthy, strong stomach, for you then can eat anything and everything you want without the slightest discomfort or misery, and every particle of impurity and Gas that is in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away without the use of laxatives or any other assistance.

Should you at this moment be suffering from Indigestion or any stomach disorder, you can get relief within five minutes.

Don't Neglect a Cold

It is far easier to check an attack of Cold or La Grippe on the first appearance of the symptoms than later, when the bronchial tubes become filled, the lungs rendered sore and congested and the system in general is upset and disordered.

As a rule it is only when these latter conditions appear that any attention is given to a cold, and at which time the attack commences to assume a more or less serious aspect and does not easily submit to treatment.

Why, then, not realize this and use some discretion as regards your health?

These tablets afford quick relief in cases of sudden colds, reducing the fever and acting mildly on the bowels. In cases of La Grippe they are very effective, often breaking up the attack in a few hours. A few doses will be found beneficial in general attacks of Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, and Bronchitis; they also relieve Headache and Neuralgic Pains. LAXATIVE COLD AND LA GRIPPE TABLETS.

U. S. TROOPS UNDER FIRE OF MEXICANS

In Battle Shells Came Across River Near Troops--Federals Were Defeated By Rebels.

Mulata, Mex., Feb. 10, by Presido, pronounced had 200 men in Mulata. and Maria, Tex., Feb. 10--Mexican forces under Gen. Laque have sustained another defeat in their attack on insurgents, whom they have been fighting in this vicinity for the past week. Today the federals assaulted the insurgent force entrenched about Mulata. They were repulsed after a battle lasting five hours.

Frequently during the assault American troops on the opposite side of the Rio Grande were under fire. Shells from the guns used by the federals hissed across the river, bursting dangerously close to men of troop H of the 3d U. S. cavalry, which patrolled the river bank.

It is declared by witnesses that frequently the federals, chagrined at the fruitlessness of their assault, deliberately turned their guns at groups of women and children who had sought refuge on the American side of the stream. One shell from the federals' fire burst near Capt. Williams of the cavalry, killing an insurgent who was watching the battle from the American side.

The federal withdrew after fierce fighting. It is expected that despite their losses, they will renew the attack tomorrow Friday. The insurgents had been warned that federal soldiers were coming. They took position on a hill near the town, in the abode houses and behind the banks of an irrigation ditch.

The federals approached in battle line, with infantry next to the river, cavalry on the left side and artillery in the center. After shelling the town at long range the soldiers advanced and the insurgents opened fire. The hottest fight took place along the ditch. Twice the federals captured the ditch, but each time they were driven out by the rebels.

In the last charge, the insurgents were led by a Scot, F. S. McCombs, and an American. Seven mauser rifles were captured in this charge.

The federals numbered 325, according to their own announcement. The pronounced had 200 men in Mulata. The Mexican soldiers were commanded by Gen. Laque and Col. Dorantes, the insurgents by Torribo Ortega and Emilio Calgado.

It is impossible to estimate the number of killed tonight. The bodies of eight soldiers have been stripped of their weapons, but many more were carried off the field. Only one insurgent, Amillo Lopez, was killed.

The Mexican soldiers withdrew a mile from their position and camped. Tonight the insurgents are moving to a better position, and there is frequent firing between outposts. An attack will be made at daybreak.

Customs Inspector Tom Perrine and Lee Grigsby were fired on by Mexican soldiers, and their pack horses were shot. In the fight Deputy Marshal Eugene Warren disarmed several refugees.

Capt. Williams has notified Gen. Laque that there must be no more firing across the river. If his orders are disobeyed, international complications may arise.

BATTLE BETWEEN 550 MEN

Loss of Both Sides Is Reported to Have Been Heavy--Word Reaches U. S. Officials.

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 10--According to a message received by federal officials here, 300 Mexican revolutionists and 250 federals were engaged in a battle near Mulata, Mex.

The loss on both sides is reported to have been heavy, but no details have been received. According to reports, the battle lasted 12 hours.

FILIBUSTERS CROSS BORDER

Body of Armed Men Reported Entering Mexico West of El Paso--U. S. Cavalry Sent.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 10--Reports reached the city early this morning that a body of armed men were crossing the international boundary between Noria and Malpais, about 25 miles west of this city on the El Paso and Southwestern railroad. A train of nine cars was made up and left at 3 this morning, carrying a large detachment of the 4th U. S. cavalry to the scene.

Gen. Orozco, who was joined by Gen. Casillas yesterday, camped last night at Rancho Flores with approximately 600 men. Whether he will risk a battle with Gen. Navarro, who is marching north with 1000 men, or whether he will retire to the hills until he can collect a larger force is uncertain.

If he should succeed in gathering the scattered bands of insurgents under his command he might oppose Navarro on nearly equal terms, but it is believed that the bitter jealousy among the insurgent leaders will make this plan impossible. Gen. Blanco, with over 300 men, is reported 30 miles south of Rancho Flores, but it is unlikely that he will join Orozco, in view of the personal enmity between them.

BARBERS TO HAVE A HALF HOLIDAY

The barbers will have their usual Thursday holiday despite all reports to the contrary. At a meeting of the barbers recently an effort was made to do away with the Thursday holiday, but it was killed by a big vote.

The barbers claim both the workmen and the proprietors that they are perfectly satisfied with Thursday holiday, and furthermore claim that it is the only up-to-date scheme for the workmen of this city. In other places even in Kittery the grocery stores close one afternoon in the week and in about all the cities the barbers who at the best have long hours, eight in the morning to eight at night and ten o'clock Saturdays, have a half a day off.

Opened the King's Eyes. When Francis was blinded to Louis XIV, his majesty was astonished to find one Sunday, instead of the usual crowded congregation, only himself and the priest. "What is the meaning of this?" said the king. "I caused it to be given out," replied the priest, "that your majesty did not attend chapel today that you might see who it was that came here to worship God and who to flatter the king."

GOOD HEADWAY ON FLORIDA

Washington, Feb. 10.—With additional money made available by Congress, the percentage of completion of the new battleship Florida, building yard, New York navy yard, was advanced greatly during January as compared with her sister ship, the Utah. The eight-hour law was the cause of the rapid operations. The Florida on Feb. 1 was 89.1 per cent. completed, as compared with 86.6 per cent. on Jan. 1. The Utah, under construction at the yards of the New York shipbuilding company, at Camden, N. J., was on Feb. 1, 95.6 per cent. completed, as compared with 94.3 per cent. on Jan. 1. The new battleships, the Wyoming, at Cramp and Sons; the Arkansas, New York shipbuilding company, and the Texas, Newport News shipbuilding company, were, respectively, 51, 58.1 and 0.0 per cent. completed on Feb. 1.

Of the torpedo boat destroyers the McCall was delivered at the Philadelphia navy yard on Jan. 18. The percentage completion on Feb. 1 of other vessels of this type were: The Burrows, 99.5; the Warrington, 97.8; the Mayrant, 93.6; the Monaghan, 65.7; the Trippe, 93.1; the Walker, 85.8; the Ammen, 84.7; the Patterson, 60.3; the Jarvis, 1.3; the Beale, 1.5; the Ladd, 3.3; and the Jenkins, 3.2. On the same date submarine torpedo boats showed these percentages of completion: The Crap, 80.1; the Barracuda, 81.8; the Pickrel, 73.7; the Skate, 73.5; the Shipjack, 81.2; the Spurgeon, 74.8; the Thrasher, 29.5; the Tuna, 49.5; the Seal (Lake), 77.3; the Seawolf, 6.3; the Nautilus, 6.3; the Garfish and the Turbot no report.

CAMPAIGN FOR RECIPROCITY

The administration's campaign for reciprocity has undoubtedly aroused tremendous popular interest. All over the country various organizations are passing resolutions for or against it. In general it may be said that business men favor the agreement. Such institutions as the national and state granges, purporting to represent the farmers, are among the opposition. In reply to the protests of the latter, Secretary Wilson has made public a letter showing that agriculturists here should be little affected, as conditions in Canada are very slightly different from those in this country. The house of representatives is making progress, and the McCall resolution, embodying the result of the negotiations, will probably receive a favorable report tomorrow. President Taft expected to make an important step in his efforts to push the measure through congress in his speech at Columbus, Ohio, Friday afternoon. On the Canadian end, very little trouble is anticipated. No difficulties will be made by Gerat Britain, as indicated by the favorable vote in the house of commons Thursday night. The Canadian government is lining up its support and Finance Minister Fielding promised early action in his speech Thursday night, a promise the fulfillment of which was indicated in the trial vote by which the opposition efforts to delay the measure were defeated. An important question which has been raised as to whether or not other countries which have a "most favored nation" treaty must be given the Canadian rates. Senator Root, an excellent authority on international law, believes that this will not be the case.

Washington, Feb. 10.—The house committee on ways and means postponed action today on the Canadian reciprocity agreement until tomorrow morning, when the committee probably will vote to report favorably to the house the measure embodying the agreement.

Today's session of the committee was devoted largely to an explanation by Mr. Mann of Illinois of the effect of the wood pulp and print paper provision of the agreement. Mr. Mann during the last session of congress, headed a special committee that investigated the paper condition.

EXPLOSION BURNS DOLPHIN MEN

An explosion of one saluting charge of a gun on the American gunboat Dolphin now at Port au Prince, Haiti, caused "extensive superficial burns" to two of her crew, according to a telegram received by the Secretary of the Navy from Captain Laws of the vessel. An eye of one of the men was injured. Captain Laws said this seemed to be the most serious result of the accident. For the purpose of meeting the needs of the injured, the Dolphin immediately left Port au Prince for Guantanamo, Cuba, where the United States Atlantic fleet is engaged in practice. There are a number of naval surgeons on the fleet. As soon as the two wounded have been placed in the hands of the physicians, the Dolphin will return to Port au Prince. Captain Laws did not report the names of the injured men.

INGERSOLL'S TRIBUTE TO LINCOLN

STRANGE mingling of mirth and tears, of the tragic and grotesque, of Socrates and Rabelais, of Aesop and Marcus Aurelius, of all that is gentle and just, humorous and honest, merciful, wise, laughable, lovable and divine, and all consecrated to the use of man, while through all and over all an overwhelming sense of obligation, of chivalric loyalty to truth and upon all the shadow of the tragic end.

Lincoln was not a type. He stands alone—no ancestors, no fellows and no successors. He knew and mingled with men of every kind, and, after all, men are the best books.

Lincoln never finished his education. To the night of his death he was a pupil, a learner, an inquirer, a seeker after knowledge.

Lincoln was a many sided man, acquainted with smiles and tears, complex in brain, single in heart, direct as light, and his words, candid as mirrors, gave the perfect image of his thought.

He was never afraid to ask, never too dignified to admit that he did not know. No man had keener wit or kinder humor. He was not solemn. Solemnity is a mask worn by ignorance and hypocrisy. It is the preface, prologue and index to the cunning or the stupid. He was natural in his life and thought, master of the story tellers' art in application perfect, liberal in speech, shocking Pharisee and prudes, using any word that will could disfigure.

He was an orator—clear, sincere, natural. He did not pretend. He did not say what he thought others thought, but what he thought.

If you wish to know the difference between an orator and an elocutionist, between what is felt and what is said, between what the heart and brain can do together and what the brain can do alone, read Lincoln's wondrous words at Gettysburg and then the speech of Edward Everett. The oration of Lincoln will never be forgotten. It will live until languages are dead and lips are dust. The speech of Everett will never be read. Lincoln was an immense personality—firm, but not obstinate. Obstinate is egotism—firmness, heroism. He influenced others without effort, unconsciously, and they submitted to him as men submit to nature, unconsciously. He was severe with himself and for that reason lenient with others. He appeared to apologize for being kinder than his fellows. He did merciful things as stealthily as others committed crimes.

He knew others because perfectly acquainted with himself. He cared nothing for place, but everything for principle; nothing for money, but everything for independence.

He knew neither tyrant nor slave. He neither knelt nor scorned. With him men were neither great nor small—they were right or wrong. Through manners, clothes, titles, rags and race he saw the real—that which is. Beyond accident, policy, compromise and war he saw the end.

He was patient as destiny, whose undecipherable hieroglyphs were so deeply graven on his sad and tragic face.

It is the glory of Lincoln that, having almost absolute power, he never abused it except on the side of mercy.

Wealth could not purchase, power could not awe this divine, his loving man. He knew no fear except the fear of doing wrong. He spoke not to inflame, not to upbraid, but to convince. He raised his hands not to strike, but in benediction. He longed to pardon. He loved to see the pearls of joy on the cheeks of a wife whose husband he had rescued from death.

Lincoln was the grandest figure of the fiercest civil war. He is the gentlest memory of our world.

ENGINEER EXONERATED

Not Held Responsible for Collision of Last Fall

After a thorough consideration of the testimony offered in the investigation of White Mountain Division train, No. 140, on the Boston and Maine, with passenger shifter No. 720, in the Concord railroad yard, Sept. 20, 1910, the board of railroad commissioners has given out its finding.

This investigation was begun Nov. 3, 1910, and concluded Jan. 26 of this year.

Safe Investments can now be made to net 4 to 5½% in bonds, 4½ to 5¾% in stocks. We have lists showing these which we will send you on request.

year. The following witnesses appeared and testified before the commission: Frank W. Johnson, station agent, Concord; Frank W. Hancock, signal tender, Concord; Albert F. Clifford, engineer on train No. 140, Concord; Charles H. Baker, fireman on train No. 140, Woodsville; Alfred P. Lake, engineer, Concord; Ray H. Perkins, Tilton; Joseph E. Silver, Concord; James Murray of Concord.

The conclusion of the board is that it is likely that the "one-half" signal was displayed at the yard entrance, thus allowing the entrance of the train, and that this signal was changed to the "nothing" signal, so-called, at practically the same instant the collision occurred. This entirely exonerates Engineer Clifford from any blame for the disaster.

WOOD FOR PAYMENT OF MILITIA

He Would Provide, in Return, That Members Shall Be Forced to Respond for Two Years When Called Out.

Major General Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, appeared before the House committee on militia on Thursday to advocate the bill to establish the organized militia of the country upon a paying basis. General Wood said that the regular army is so scattered throughout the insular possessions that only about twenty thousand men are ready for immediate service within the country borders. If the war department is to count upon the aid of the militia, he pointed out, it must know that the militia is up to a definite standard of efficiency and that it would respond when called upon. The War department's amendment to compel the paid militia to respond if called out by the President demands service of two years from the date of the call, without regard to the period of enlistment within the militia. With this amendment, General Wood expressed the belief that the country would "get its money's worth" in giving nominal monthly pay to the members of the militia.

MODIFIES UNIFORMED MEN BILL

The senate agrees with the house that wearers of the uniform of soldiers or sailors of the United States should be protected from discrimination by managers of places of amusement. The senate, however, differs with the house as to the punishment that should be meted out for such discriminations. The house bill as it passed that body, imposed a fine of $1000 and a penalty of two years' imprisonment for such an offense against members of the army, navy or marine corps. The senate today passed the bill, but so amended it as to make the fine $500 and to remove the imprisonment feature. Members of the revenue cutter service, however, were included with soldiers, sailors and marines by the senate.

There will be a great many railroad men attend the funeral of Conductor George Law on Sunday afternoon.

COUNTRY CLUB ASSEMBLY

There was a very pretty dancing assembly at Pythian hall on Friday evening, one of the series of the dancing assemblies of the Portsmouth Country club. There were about thirty-five couples present, all club members, and it was a most enjoyable time.

Mrs. Fred J. Rider and Mrs. Robert J. Howe were the patronesses and they were untiring in their efforts to make the affair the big success that it was.

Wentworth and Mardon's orchestra of four pieces furnished the music for dancing and it was the usual high order.

The next assembly will be held on Friday, Feb. 24, and the patronesses will be Mrs. Herbert E. Philbrook and Mrs. Morgan Dada.

GREAT AMOUNT OF MEASLES

Owing to the great amount of measles in this city, the Board of Health have ordered that special precautions be taken with the school children. Hereafter when a child is absent more than two days before they can come back to school, they must get certificates from the city physician.

This rule is taken owing to the fact that a great many people do not consider that measles worth reporting and the result the great spread of the disease which for time got so great that the Board of Health considered the idea of closing the schools.

At the present time in the lower grades there are more than half of the children absent.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

Why Is This?

Dear Sir—In an issue of the Herald of the early part of this week the public were informed that "a hearing to the public on the Helt bill for the repeal of the 'public works' provision of our charter would be given by the legislative delegation from this city at the Court House on Friday evening."

"At a meeting of the Portsmouth delegation yesterday, it was voted to hold a public hearing in the city hall in that city on Monday evening next on house bill 116, amending the charter in relation to the public works commission."

In the Herald of Friday afternoon we find, "There will not be a hearing of the Portsmouth delegation this evening on the Board of Public Works bill known as the Helt bill, now before the Portsmouth delegation. At a meeting in Concord it was voted not to hold a public hearing, and it is expected that the bill will be reported to the legislature next week."

ATLANTIC SHORE RAILROAD

The report covering the Atlantic Shore railway just made to the Maine State assessors was as follows:

This road has a total mileage of 30.41, of which 27.517 miles are within the state, the remaining mileage being in New Hampshire. The capitalization is as follows: Common stock, $2,000,000; preferred stock, $2,000,000, and a funded debt of $3,265,000.

The results of operation show that the earnings are not sufficient to support such a capitalization and since June 30, 1910, the road has been reorganized in order to place the property on a more substantial basis as a business proposition.

Both the gross and net earnings of this company have shown but little variation during the past three years. The road is nearly all in York county.

FUNERAL NOTICE

Funeral services of Abby S. Parsons will be held at the Congregational church, Rye, Center, Sunday afternoon at 2.30.

There were one drunk and ten lodgers on the police blotter last night. The lodgers came in groups and it was the largest number registered for some time. They seemed to be working both east and west, and as usual all were hunting hard for work.

On the testimony of the members of the board and abutters along the street the court considered him guilty and gave him a chance to retract his plea. This he did and the court suspended sentence and ordered him to pay costs of $13.70.

FORMER SAILOR MET SAD END

Accident Caused Death of Court Martial Man Who Turned Over New Leaf

Among the former court martial men at the naval prison here was one W. S. Barry, who after doing a term of eighteen months was discharged about Christmas. Barry was found dead on Friday in his room on 3d avenue, New York city as a result of asphyxiation.

The circumstances surrounding his life are extremely sad and his untimely death brought much sorrow to Chaplain C. H. Dickens, who was exceedingly interested in the young man.

Barry immediately after being confined in the government institution appeared to realize fully his situation and though behind the bars at night and under the eye of a guard during the day he began a new life.

His anxiety to do better impressed the officials and he soon became a teacher of the classes in the school among the convicts. He wanted to forget the past and when he stepped from his cell for the last time to freedom, seemed to be a different man.

Through the efforts of the chaplain Barry secured employment with the Edison Electric company of New York and recently wrote a letter telling of his success and the appreciation he had for the good done him. The next heard from him was a telegram announcing his death.

Money was not very plenty with him and during the recent cold spell he was obliged to use a gas heater in his room and the escaping gas is given as a cause for his end.

He has a brother living at Tottenham, Mo., and Chaplain Dickens is trying to locate him that he may take charge of the remains.
